Green Logic Energy Named SunPower's Residential Dealer Of The Year

in News Departments > FYI
by SI Staff on Thursday 19 November 2009

Green Logic Energy, a Southampton, N.Y.-based provider of renewable energy solutions, received the SunPower Residential Dealer of the Year award during last month's Solar Power International trade show in Anaheim, Calif.

The company says it was selected from more than 200 SunPower dealers in North America for its outstanding performance as a SunPower Premier Dealer in 2009. Earlier this year, Green Logic also received Long Island Power Authority's Trade Ally Award for its work providing renewables to the Long Island market.

The Residential Dealer of the Year award is given to a SunPower dealer that has outperformed in this category, demonstrated exceptional customer service and proven their leadership in this market. The recipient has unparalleled sales performance and has exceeded all business-plan goals and objectives.
